SHOPPING IN LONDON

Adapted from

John tells us a bit more about shopping in London...

When I visit London, my favourite thing to do is shopping! I really enjoy searching for a bargain in the sales, buying something new to wear out on a Saturday night. Or a bit of window-shopping -it doesn't cost a penny. Sometimes, I spend hours walking around a market chatting with my friends.

There are a lot of different places to go shopping in London. If you're looking for 'high street' shops -the kind of shops you find in most towns, go to Oxford Street, but it gets too busy sometimes. For a less crowded, more relaxing shopping experience, go to Covent Garden, you can have an expensive cappuccino, and watch some free street theatre at the same time.

Some people like shopping in department stores, the most famous one in London is 'Harrods', but for me, it's not modern enough, and too expensive. But just down the road is 'Harvey Nics', much more 'up-to-the-minute', but not cheap. The best of all the big department stores is 'Selfridges' in Oxford Street, it's a shoppers' paradise, nice clothes, and the prices? Well I can look, can't I?

For a market experience, try 'Camden', it's busy, exciting, trendy, and there are lots of bargains! You can buy cheap jeans and cool second hand clothes. If all that shopping is too tiring, you can get some Chinese or Thai food for £2 or £3, sit by the canal and drink a beer. What could be better?

If Camden is not sophisticated enough, you may prefer a day to Greenwich -a world heritage site. This is a much more relaxing day out. You can have a stroll round the market and shops, and then take in a bit of London's history -it was the birthplace of Henry VIII and Elizabeth I. There's also the park, the 'Cutty Sark', the meridian line (where east meets west), and the old observatory...so much to do, but don't forget the shopping!
