PÉREZ VAQUERO, Carlos: La justicia juvenil en el derecho europeo. In Derecho y Cambio Social, March 2014, no. 37.

The Council of Europe has taken more measures than the European Union to tackle youth crime. Some of the various types of rules have been compiled together with comments on the content and situations that are targeted in each case. An extensive analysis is provided on the Ruling of the European Economic and Social Council of March 15, 2006 on the prevention of juvenile delinquency and on the Resolution of the European Parliament of June 21, 2007 on juvenile delinquency.

MARTÍNEZ ÁLVAREZ, José L. et al. Vínculos afectivos en la infancia y calidad de las relaciones de pareja de jóvenes adultos: el efecto mediador del apego actual. In Anales de psicología, 2014, vol. 30, no. 1, pp. 211-220.

The study analyses, on the one hand, the association between bonds to parents in childhood and the quality of relationships during youth and, on the other, the influence of that association in adult attachments in a relationship. It reveals that good bonding in childhood is good for the quality of adult relationships and attachments. It also seems, regarding affections, that the parent of the opposite sex is more important than the one of the same sex.

LLUCH, Gemma. Jóvenes y adolescentes hablan de lectura en la red. In Ocnos: revista de estudios sobre lectura, no. 11, 2014, p. 7-20.

Based on two studies, with different levels of analysis, the following conclusions are reached regarding the use young people make of reading: create new reading communities outside school and the library, create content, participate in different platforms, reading does not isolate them, it builds communities and facilitates bonding, they cooperate but sometimes also compete
